D. E. O'KEEFE.....EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

HER LIFES JOURNEY ENDED.

With sincere regret we anounce the death of Mrs. Grant Marsh, the beloved wife of Capt. Grant Marsh, one of the best known steamboatmen on the western rivers,and beloved mother of Mrs. R. S. Albert of this city.. Mrs. Marsh, who died at her home in St. Louis had been sick for several weeks, and for the past two weeks her death was expected at most any time.

She was about 64 years of age, and was married to Capt. Marsh 45 years ago. She leaves two sons, Grant C. and John R., also three daughters, Mrs. Robert L. Gaines, Mrs. C. J. Hall and Mrs. R. S. Albert, of Redwood City. Capt. Grant Marsh was not at her bedside when Mrs. Marsh died, but arrived Friday from Bismark, N. Dak., where he has been engaged in steamboating for nearly two months. The daughters and one son, G. C. Marsh, was with her to the last.

Mrs. Marsh was devoted and loving in her family, which was returned in an abundant measure by loving husband and children's tender solicitude and respect during her declining years. She also had the love and respect of a great number of friends, was a christian woman and discharged her duty as such toward her fellowman as such, claims her reward in the great beyond where her beloved trust to share with her the home of the eternal.

PESCADERO PEBBLES.

Dr. C. L. McCracken, wife and son were here for the Saturday night dance and to greet old time friends.

Mrs. Chas. Wilson and daughter Sadie are here for the summer and are guests of Mrs. Glenn Anderson.

Dan Adair and family, Mrs. H. L. Good and daughter May, are attending the State Rebekah lodge at Santa Cruz.

Harold Wood of San Francisco and grandson of Mrs. Leighton, walked over from Woodside Friday and expects to spend several weeks visiting friends here.

Nineteen men and fifty horses with wagons passed through here from the cement works at Santa Cruz to San Francisco where they expected to help clean away the debris from the city.

At a business meeting of the C. E. society the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. S. B. Thompson; vice president, Mrs. E. A. Teague secretary, Loyd Smith; treasurer, J H. Caughey.

Quitea large sum of money has been raised for the purpose of celebrating the 4th of July in a good old fashioned way. Barbecue, races, will follow the regular exercises of the day, but more definite news will be given later on.

Mrs. Philbrick of Maine who has been spending the winter with her sister Mrs. B. F. Weeks left for her eastern home last Monday. She is well pleased with this country and expects to return and spend her remaining days in our beloved state.

The Portugese Chamarita took place under very unfavorable circumstances. It rained so hard they were not able to attend the religious part of their festival which was prepared for them on Sunday but as Monday proved clear and bright they met on their grounds and had their barbecue and dance and the other things that went to make up a good time. They forgot their disappointment of the day before and enjoyed themselves to their heart's content.

WOODSIDE CHIPS.

Ed Hansen spent Sunday with his folks at Oak Hill Farm.

Miss Clara Jenkins had the misfortune to slipp and sprain her ankle last week but is doing nicely now.

Many from here expected to attend the Chamorita last Sunday but the rain was a great disappointment.

The rain last Tuesday was the heaviest rain for the time of the year for many years. Agood deal of damage was done to volunteer hay but that was the extent.

The dance this evening promises to be a very successful affair. San Francisco music has been engaged and a good time is promised to all. Supper will be served at Wilson's.

The Semi-Annual Statement.

The semi-annual statement of the San Mateo County Building and Loan Association appears in another column of this issue. Attention is invited thereto for the reason that while the Metropolitan and some other financial corporations have suspended payments for a time and all loans, this local concern, of which every one should be proud, has continued in the even tenor of its way since the memorable 18th day of April, having made new loans of $4,200 and paid out for matured shares the sum of $24,200. The last statement shows a profit in investment shares of 8 1-2 per cent per Trout Fishing Good.

Since the termination of the fall of rain, trout fishing has been fairly good in the various streams of this county. The showers of the past week have washed considerable dirt into the creeks, but with the advent of clear weather the streams should be in good condition. This is the season of the year when fly casting is in vogue among the anglers. It has been proven, however, that a pretty bright fly is needed this year to lure the wily trout. All of the coast trout streams are now in fine condition, and anglers who are desirous of making limit baskets should take advantage of the opportunity offered for nice sport before the water will have run too low for fishing. The San Gregorio, Pescadero, creeks are in fine condition for fly fishing at present.

Our Native Herbs, the great blood, liver and kidney purifier, cures rheumatism, la grippe and all diseases. Medicine sent on receipt of one dollar. Address Mrs. R. E. Jamieson, Redwood City.

Death of Mrs. James Curran.

The hand of death was laid with great severity in Redwood City last Friday evening when Mrs. James Curran went to "sleep with her fathers." Mrs. Curran had been ill for some time and though her passing away had been expected, it came as a great blow to the dear ones left behind. The deceased was one of the best known and highly respected women in Redwood City. Throughout her whole life her devotion to her family and to her church has been an inspiration to others. She had the true christian charity which has as its motto, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

The passing of Mrs. Curran from this life was peaceful and easy and it is a comfort to her sorrowing family to know that her Heavenly Father was with her and gave her the "Well done" as she entered the other life.

The funeral of Mrs. Curran took place Monday morning from Mount Carmel Catholic church, Rev. Father White officiating. The interment was in Holy Cross cemetery, Menlo Park, and was attended by a large number of sorrowing friends.

COUNTY BOARD IN SESSION

Official Business Transacted by the Supervisors at Its Last Meeting.

The Board of Supervisors met in regular session Monday. All the members were present. Reading reports of all county officers was deferred to the next meeting of the Board.

S. K. Whipple petitioned the Board for permission to cross Burlingame avenue with a sewer. On motion of Elkerenkotter seconded by MacBain the request was granted.

On motion of Coburn seconded by Debenedetti the Burlingame Realty company was granted permission to lay a four-inch water pipe along the westerly side of the county road and certain other streets and avenues to Burlingame Park to serve the property owners there with water. The company was required to give a bond of $200 to protect the county in case the streets were not placed in proper condition.

A letter was received from Mrs. S. Cordero of San Francisco asking the board to return to her the amount of $120 which had been deposited by her husband for a liquor license which had not been granted. Cordero had since been convicted of a felony and is now in jail in San Francisco awaiting the result of an appeal to the Supreme Court. It was ascertained that the money had been paid to the late F. M. Granger whose estate was in course of probate. Mrs. Cordero was directed to communicate with the attorney of the estate.

Surveyor Gilbert4 stated that he had made a partial examination of the Pilarcitos bridge at Halfmoon Bay and found it in bad condition. He believed that a portion of the arch would have to be renewed and that the wing walls and retaining walls could be held in position with the aid of steel rods. Until he had consulted an expert concrete worker Mr. Gilbert was unprepared to report positively what the loss would be. Roughly estimated it would be about $1,500.

The engineer was authorized to have the structure examined by an expert.

The applications for auditor filed with the Board some time ago were taken up and acted upon. Those seeking the office were Mr. Plecarpo, Alexader Gordon, W. Z. Price, W. H.—Underhill and E. L. On the twelth ballot Price gained one and on the eighth ballot Gordon got two votes. Harry Hatch was given a complimentary vote.

Jas. T. O'Keefe presented the following petition from the liquor dealers of Menlo Park and asked that its prayer be granted:

To the honorable Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo.

Gentlemen: We, the undersigned retain liquor dealers of the town of Menlo Park, respectfully represent to your honorable body that at a meeting held by us on last Friday, June the 1st, 1906, a resolution was unanimously adopted in which we agreed to comply with the recent action taken by you regarding the sale of liquor in the First, Second and Third townships.

We had not been officially notified of your request to close our place of business at certain hours and days enumerated in your resolution, but we as law abiding business men and having a common interest in the welfare of our county and state voluntarily acquiesced in your request.

We, feel, however, there is no cause for alarm in the sale of liquor in this locality; there has been no public demonstration or public excitement here since the disaster and no arrests have been made. The conditions are the same now as they were before and we can see no good reason for imposing hardships upon us at this time.

It was the sense of our meeting as expressed in our resolution that we keep our place of business closed during all of Sunday and not sell liquor in bulk or in flasks, or bottles on Saturday afternoon. This, to a certain extent, would relieve the hardships imposed by your former resolution.

We are not inclined to resent any action taken by the Board, but as a matter of fairness and justice we think your honorable body should modify your former action and permit us to keep open during the evening and on Saturday afternoon,

We therefore ask that you so amend your resolution and grant our request to keep open during the evenings and Saturday afternoon.

Chas. Meyer and J. H. O'Keefe made strong speeches urging that the request be granted. They argued that closing the saloons every evening at 8 o'clock was a hardship.

Chairman Coleman said that they would not be closed long and did not think they would suffer very much to have existing conditions continue for a few weeks.

MacBain advised that petition be withdrawn assuring the saloon men that their request would be granted in a short time.

Liquor licenses were granted to the following applicants:

First township—J. B. Demartini, Colma; bondsmen, Geo. Wight and Jas Feretti. Daniel McSweeney, South San Francisco; bondsmen, J. L. Debenedetti and Robert Hurley. John Clifford, Colma; bondsmen, Peter Lind and B. Deneen. R. Nichols and G Waukoop, South San Francisco; bondsmen, Jas. Carmody and H. Gaerd s

Third township—J. M. Williams n Woodside; bondsmen, P. J. Foley and P. Mathisen.

The following gave notice of intention to apply for licenses at the next meeting:

First township—Harry E. Corbett, San Bruno; W. R. Markt, San Bruno road; Caleb Coakley, Colma; Alex Wulich, Colma; Nicholas Baggustos, South San Francisco; Theodore and Otto Berlinger, San Bruno road; Rodgers & Hawes, South San Francisco; Peter Regli, Colma; C. A Friendly Suit.

The heirs of the late Horace Hawes, Mrs J. B. Schroeder and Mrs. D. M. Crabtree, have given notice through their attorney, Edw. F. Fitzpatrick, that they will commence suit against the Redwood City school district to determine the ownership of what is known as the old school property in this city. It is claimed by the heirs that the property has been abandoned by the district and under the terms of the deed should revert back. The suit which will be of a friendly nature will be welcomed by the district as it will settle for all time the ownership of the property. The assurance is given that no steps will be taken by the heirs while the gymnasium is being occupied by the county officials.

A sprinkling cart would be an interesting sight.

Mamma—Now, look here, Tommy, didn't I give you a penny yesterday to be good? Tommy—Yes, ma, and I'm trying to be as bad as I can today just to let you see that you got a good pennyworth yesterday.

A rich heiress once said complacently to a very beautiful but poor girl, "I had five offers of marriage last week."

"You are more fortunate than I," said the pretty girl; "I only got declarations of love."

POISONED ARROWS.

Their Use In Warfare Dates Back to Prehistoric Ages.

The use of poisoned arrows in primitive warfare is undoubtedly of very ancient origin. The custom is mentioned by Strabo, Pliny and Aristotle, all of whom agree that it was well known in both prehistoric Europe and Asia. In later times the Celts and Gauls envenomed their arrow and spear shafts with the juices of the hellebore, and the American and Australian savages with serpent venom and virus from decaying flesh.

The very earliest mention of the Scythians refers to them as "a people who prepare arrow poison by mixing serpent venom with the virus of putrid blood serum." At the time of the discovery of America the Indians were as well skilled in the science of preparing arrow poison as the Scythians or any other early tribe of European or Asiatic people. The favorite mode as practiced by the American aborigines was to kill some wild animal, a deer or buffalo preferred, remove its liver and cause a heavily envenomed reptile to strike its fangs into it until the meat turned green with poison. If one serpent did not supply enough, others were obtained, and the work of enraging the creatures and causing them to strike the liver was kept up until the desired results were obtained. One large liver thus prepared would furnish poison enough to coat the shafts of 10,000 arrows. The Smithsonian institute has hundreds of these poisoned arrows, the microscope showing that most of them have been poisoned with rattlesnake venom.

A CITY OF MUD.

Peculiarities of Yezd, Its People and Its Houses.

"One of the most extraordinary cities in the world is Yezd, in central Persia," writes a traveler. "It is situated in the midst of a vast salt desert which stretches for hundreds of miles in all directions. The nearest inhabited place of any size is Ispahan, and that is 200 miles away. The inhabitants of Yezd who have been away from Yezd during their lives number perhaps two or three score, and the bulk of these have not extended their travels farther than to Shiraz or Kirman in the one direction or to Ispahan in the other. Yet between 50,000 and 60,000 people make the place their home. For ninety-nine out of every hundred of these the great outside world has absolutely no existence at all.

"Yezd is a city made almost entirely of mud. Not only are the houses built of this material, but the very furniture, the fire pans, the barrels for grain, the children's toys, the bread receptacles, even the beds, are simply mud molded into a rough form and dried in the sun.

"In the Yezd shops the goods, mostly mud, are displayed on tiers of mud ledges, and there is a mud room behind. The bakers' ovens are of mud, down to the very doors. Many of the Yezdis even eat mud and develop an unwholesome muddy complexion in consequence."

HABITS OF HARES.

Making the Toilet Is a Long and Careful Process.

A clever observer writes: "A good many hares find a secure retreat in the sand hills during the daytime and feed on the marshes in the morning and evening. The hour at which most of them leave the marsh varies, but it is any time before 9 o'clock. All the hares, however, do not return, some preferring to lie out all day and make their "forms" in any standing clumps of grass in the inclosures. I found this out one day while taking shelter among the fir trees from a downpour of rain. As soon as the rain got really heavy I saw first one and then another hare appear, as it were, out of the ground in the middle of the fields and race for the shelter of the sand hills.

"On their return to the hills in the morning many of them take up their station on the sunny side of a fir tree, generally on a slope, and sit there, either among the fir needles or else on the bare ground or sand, without any sort of form apparently. They like a warm, sunny seat, out of the wind, or, in wet weather, sheltered from the rain. Here they sit and sleep, unless disturbed, until an hour or two past midday.

"At some time between 1:30 and 3 o'clock they wake up and begin their toilet, which is a long and very careful process. I have seen them roll in the sand, then get up, shake themselves and finally lick their bodies all over, for the most part directly with their tongues, but those parts of their bodies which they cannot reach so—face, back of head, ears and nape of neck—are dressed by the fore limbs exactly in the same way that a cat does it.

"These toilet operations often take half or three-quarters of an hour. When complete, there is a short time of rest, then a long stretch and a yawn, fore legs first, then the hind legs; finally, the whole body is raised into an arch, after which the animal begins to move off for another feed."

ANALYZING MILK.

The Process Is Neither Difficult Nor Complicated.

The chemical analysis of milk is not complicated nor difficult. First the chemist weighs a small dish, cup or saucer and carefully notes down the results in ounces, grains and fractions of grains. Next he pours in some milk to be analyzed and again carefully notes down the result. By subtracting the weight of the dish from that of both the weight of the milk is found and recorded. Next the receptacle is placed over a steam jet, which evaporates the water of the milk, leaving only the residue or "solids." Again the dish and its contents are weighed, and by a simple calculation the percentage of solids is ascertained.

The "solids" of the milk have been found by innumerable analyses to average about 13 per cent, and while the fat varies in milk from different cows the solids left after extracting the fat are found to be a very constant quantity, seldom falling below 10 per cent or over 14. This gives the chemist a positive basis for his calculations and enables him to state with great certainty whether or not the milk has been watered.

The fat or oil in milk is determined by dissolving it by means of ether, the residue remaining after such test being termed "solids other than fat." The average fat or oil found in milk from cows is 3 per cent, and any amount less than 3 per cent indicates almost to a certainty that the milk has been skimmed. If analysis shows a decrease of fat it indicates that the milk has been watered, while if fats and other solids together are low you may infer that the skimmer has done its worst.

MISSIONARY RIDGE.

How the Scene of a Terrible Battle Originally Got Its Name.

Stretching for miles along the eastern border of the city, picturesque and pleasing to view is Missionary ridge. How well that name is known from the hemlocks of Maine to the flowers of Florida, and yet how different from its name are the associates one gives it when it is pronounced! In history it is recorded as being the scene of one of the fiercest conflicts of the civil war, but to the people who know the origin of the name it is a monument to the memory of a band of devoted, self sacrificing Christian men who, braving the hardships of emigration not for the love of gain, but to help their fellow men, built the Brainard mission on the picturesque heights known by the name of Missionary ridge.

It was in 1817 that the Rev. Cyrus Kingsbury, Ainsworth F. Blunt and the Rev. John Vail first viewed the site of their mission. They were sent here by the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, and the same board had provided for the erection of a mission, including school buildings and a home for the missionaries. But the contractors failed in their contract, and the missionaries were left without money and without even a shelter. But by energetic efforts they created a mission school and built a mill on the banks of Chickamauga creek. The mill race, nearly a mile long, is still visible. The mill was purchased by Philamon Bird in 1852. He tore down the small structure and built what is now known as Bird's mill.

On May 27, 1819, the president of the United States, James Monroe, appeared at the door of the mission unannounced. He was accompanied by General Gaines. Although surprised by his visit, the missionaries were ready to receive him, and he complimented them on their work and in glowing terms praised the beautiful location of the mission. The Brainard mission was used until the Indians left. It did an immense amount of good, and at one time there were more than 500 Indian children being taught beneath its roof. The Lord's supper was observed for the last time on Aug. 19, 1838.

In the old mission cemetery east of the ridge, overgrown with weeds and forgotten by almost everybody, is a little monument on which are the following words:

"Here lie the remains of Samuel Worcester, D. D., pastor of the Tabernacle church, Salem, Mass., first secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, and the same board had provided for the erection of a mission, including school buildings and a home for the missionaries. Beauty and the Beast.

A well known southern churchman was recently visiting New York, accompanied by his wife, who is as beautiful as her life mate is homely. They were walking down Broadway one sunny afternoon, and the pair attracted much attention. One of two young "sports," evidently thinking to attract the favorable attention of the churchman's wife, in an audible aside remarked that it was another case of "the beauty and the beast." Quick as a wink the husband turned and, as he swung his right to the speaker's jaw, scoring a knockout, said, "I am a man of peace, but I never allow any one to call my wife a beast."—New York Tribune.

Catharine Parr.

Catharine Parr, the sixth wife of the much married Henry VIII., owed more to her intellectual than to her personal charms. She was not good looking, but had a pleasant face and a world of tact. So skillfully did she manage her troublesome husband as actually to turn him against some of the most trusted of his own officials. Once an order was made out for her arrest on a charge of heresy, but she got news of the matter and so cleverly flattered and soothed Henry as to effect a complete reconciliation, and when the officers came to serve the order he drove them out with curses and threats.

The Final Blow.

It is said that often when a woman says "no" she means "yes," but there are signs which discourage even the most hopeful and persistent wooer.

"I didn't so much mind Hetty's saying she'd as soon marry a jumping jack as me," said Ethan Hatch forlornly to a sympathetic friend, "nor I didn't much care when she said she'd rather stay at home than go out to Jordan's park with such a slow coach as I was, but when she told me she'd got to help her mother iron when I asked her to go with me down to the Center for some ice cream soda I saw 'twasn't much use hanging on any
